See below to the Marriott – we are reaching for hi-rises at this point fellas. No Post office in ST Paul, no Ameriprise in Minneapolis (Both unwilling to sign license agreements).....any ideas?

During our exercise we are looking for hi-rise rooftops that our small helicopters can use as precision navigation checkpoints. We have a few in the Minneapolis-St Paul – looking for a couple more. Would your GM be willing to allow us to do this? The helicopters will not touch the building...they are doing a precision navigation/timing that terminates to a brief hover delay well above the roof – then they depart. On the single night we would do it - it would be from approximately 9pm to 1015pm (Not constant – intermittent as they do their route). Please advise the GM this is an exercise hosted by the city with formal inviter from the Mayor.

If this is acceptable on the 2-6 June trip if your engineer could allow me to conduct a safety assessment (I am looking at antennas-etc), I can also brief the GM in person if needed.

Thank you
