I think this does a great job of capturing the situation as it stands Howie, thanks. One question for Howie (and for the comm's team in general really) would be as we turn our eyes forward do we want to say something at the end along the lines of... "We understand the concern and confusion these activities may have created for the public and therefore in the coming days, our community members can look to the Saint Paul Police Department's Twitter account (@sppdpio) for information about further training activities in the City of Saint Paul." Not a huge change from what Howie had but recognizes the concerns in the public realm.

Just a thought.

I agree w you, Jake.

Also, Howie, I would like it to be more clear that these are DOD-led and local law enforcement is providing required logistical support.

Also, I don't understand the line that they aren't "open to the public." Do you mean "...including the limited release of advance information to the public about the details of the exercises?"

Thanks,
Tonya

I am hearing confusion that the military is training SPPD in these actions. Can you add more clarity that DOD is not training SPPD during the night? Thanks

I also recall wanting to clarify that DOD is not giving SPPD any military equipment in exchange either. Not sure if we want to include that in the statement, as it was mentioned in the Pioneer Press article.

I have addressed that in the updated Pioneer Press article and would not like to use this venue to correct their mistakes.
