So you're talking about nick ferraro. I wasn't impressed with the young woman from the business publication either, who had a story in yesterday's online edition.

In both cases, they're making it seem like we're taking something away from the Vikings, which we are not. We are merely telling them to get in line with city ordinances, and in this case that helps keep their facility from looking something in Las Vegas. In my opinion.

I tried hard to convince the rest of the APC to drop the projection technology proposal but no luck. I really hope the CC/Mayor don't buy into that. I think it will be a terrible distraction for drivers on 494. They say they won't use it for advertising, but I don't believe them. That side of the IPF is huge ñ the equivalent of more than 50 of our biggest billboards! And it's 10 - 12 stories high!

Ok, I need to stop. Sorry. Have a great weekend.
