Duane,

You are on the invitation list.

Don't expect anything too soon. We need to take a break from all things Vikings. We have until March 2018 to complete this. While we will not wait to do so until the end of this time period, I, and others, need to focus on other things for a bit that have been neglected due to the Vikings invasion. We will have some discussions in the next 45-60 days on street design that will be good to have your input from an infrastructure perspective, but the actual event travel demand management study can wait a bit.

We look forward to working with you and expect another successful team effort, similar to TCPO.

Russ
