Hi Mike,

The college wanted to announce the name change at its annual spring event, which is attended by students, faculty, supporters, etc. Here is the event invite that was posted online, which you will see teases the announcement - <https://cla.umn.edu/hsjmc/news-events/news/join-us-spring-showcase-2017>. July 1 is when our fiscal year changes over and when a change like this would take place, and the spring 2018 event is to allow for physical changes to take place like signage.

All this is to say that there actually hasn't been a delay, the spacing you are seeing is just the cadence of events for something like this.

Hope this helps, but feel free to give me a call if you have questions.

Thanks,

Evan

I wanted to get back to the exchange we had [see below] regarding the renaming of the journalism school.

The documents I received from the school indicate that, in March, the renaming was being expedited to coincide with a planned announcement/event that the College of Liberal Arts was planning for May.

Now the school is saying that while the name change took place on July 1, an event commemorating the change will not occur until next spring.

Do you know what the reason for that is?

Does it have anything to do with the Board of Regents inquiry, launched in May, related to the KSTP-TV story?

Thanks.

Hey Mike,

The name was official starting July 1, 2017. There will be a TBD event in the spring (2018) to showcase some changes made to the building, etc.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks,

Evan

OK; thanks. It just looked from the documents that there would be a ceremony, and I wanted to know when it was scheduled, or if it has already happened. If you could let me know, that would be great.

Thanks, again.

Mike,

The committee voted electronically. As for a naming ceremony, I'm not aware of one taking place or what the plans are in relation to that. I can check.

Thanks,

Evan

committee? The correspondence does not seem to make that clear.
