All,

Thank you for your hard work and patience in helping our region build and submit our proposal to Amazon for HQ2. I am pleased to report to each of you that your site along with supporting documentation as requested by the client has been submitted and will be in Seattle tomorrow morning by noon. We understand that many of you have been asked to respond to requests from the media and we would like to offer a few talking points for you to consider. I have attached these talking points for you and will be pleased to answer any additional questions you may have that we can answer!

While we wait for a response from the client please take time to enjoy with your families what is shaping up to be an incredible MEA weekend!

Respectfully,

David Griggs, CEcD
Vice President, Business Investment and Research
