Hi Richard. My name is Sarah Kendzior; I'm a journalist who covers US and international politics. We've appeared on AM Joy together talking about Trump and Russia.

My editor at Fast Company, Anjali Khosla, gave me your email address because I have a brief legal question for you. Was Lindsay Graham's recent tweet proclaiming Trump's golf club "spectacular" a legal violation in any way? I know that legal and ethical issues arose when other administration figures promoted Trump properties and products, but I don't know how it applies to a tweet by a Senator. Thanks!

Best,

Sarah
