And I'll say this in e-mail, and I'll say it in person.

You are mad at yourself and not listening to your brain/heart/gut. Joan, I'm frustrated as well. I caved on my initial desire to do 100%. Joan, I will not, in the future, let go of something until you tell me to, politely, "sit the hell down and shut up." I owe you that.

Thank you. And somewhere in your 10,000 e-mails today is a suggested change on Chris Cramer's proposed message that I sent back to you.

Happy Wednesday evening!
Matt

Thank you Joan. We will get this out of the door. Congratulations, and I mean that sincerely. I know that the heavy lifting with the BOR is still two days away, but this is the right message.

Thank you,
Matt
