[redacted] advised that at approximately 2:29 p.m. on June 14, 1995, a telephone call was transferred to him by [redacted].
 The call was transferred to [redacted] because [redacted] is the employee who handles IRS matters, and the call related to an IRS problem. [redacted] asked the male caller for his name. The male caller identified himself as [redacted] Last Name Unknown (LNU), but said that his name was not important.

[redacted] spoke to [redacted] specifically about an IRA problem.
 [redacted] told [redacted] that he [redacted] had taken money out of an IRA account prior to the maturity date and was subsequently assessed a 10% penalty. [redacted] was ticked off that he was assessed a penalty and did not want to return the money. [redacted] offered to provide [redacted] with the telephone number for the IRS Problem Resolution Office. However, [redacted] began rambling and stated that he did not want the number. [redacted] told [redacted] that he had called the 1-800 number for IRS numerous times and was never able to get through.

[redacted] asked [redacted] what he [redacted] should do. [redacted] asked [redacted] if he should put a gun to his head and what would happen then. [redacted] repeatedly told [redacted] that he was going to spit in
 "BILL", "NEWT" and "ROD's" face. [redacted] assumed that the caller was referring to BILL CLINTON, NEWT GENGRIK and ROD GRAMS. [redacted] told [redacted] that he was so angry that he wanted to shoot BILL, NEWT, and ROD. The caller also repeatedly asked [redacted] what was GRAMS' office's official response to the question, "why didn't Russia blow up this fucking country when they had a chance to?".
 [redacted] told [redacted] that his question was pointless and meaningless.
 [redacted] continued to press for an answer. [redacted] also stated that he hoped he would outlive BILL, ROD, and NEWT so that he could spit on their graves.

[REDACTED] asked the caller if he wanted the IRS Problem Resolution number, to which the caller responded "no". [REDACTED] told the caller that [REDACTED] was going to end the phone conversation unless the caller wanted the Problem Resolution number. [REDACTED] ultimately asked [REDACTED] for that number. [REDACTED] provide [REDACTED] with the telephone number of 290-3077. [REDACTED] asked [REDACTED] if that was within the (612) area code. The call then ended between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] estimated that the call lasted approximately ten minutes.

[REDACTED] stated that a [REDACTED] immediately attempted to trace the phone call by dialing *57. [REDACTED] was not certain if he traced the phone call to the correct line. [REDACTED] explained that there are three "common" phone lines which receive incoming calls: [REDACTED]; [REDACTED]; and [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was uncertain as to which line [REDACTED] had called when he placed his call.

[REDACTED] was asked if the caller provided any information as to his identity such as where he lived, worked, his age, etc. [REDACTED] replied that the caller sounded approximately thirty years old and spoke in an effeminate way.

[REDACTED] advised that approximately one half hour after [REDACTED] first telephone call, he called back and told the secretary to tell [REDACTED] that "the fucking phone number didn't work".
